

TOGETHER IN THE FRIENDSHIP CIRCLE

A GAME FOR FAMILIES

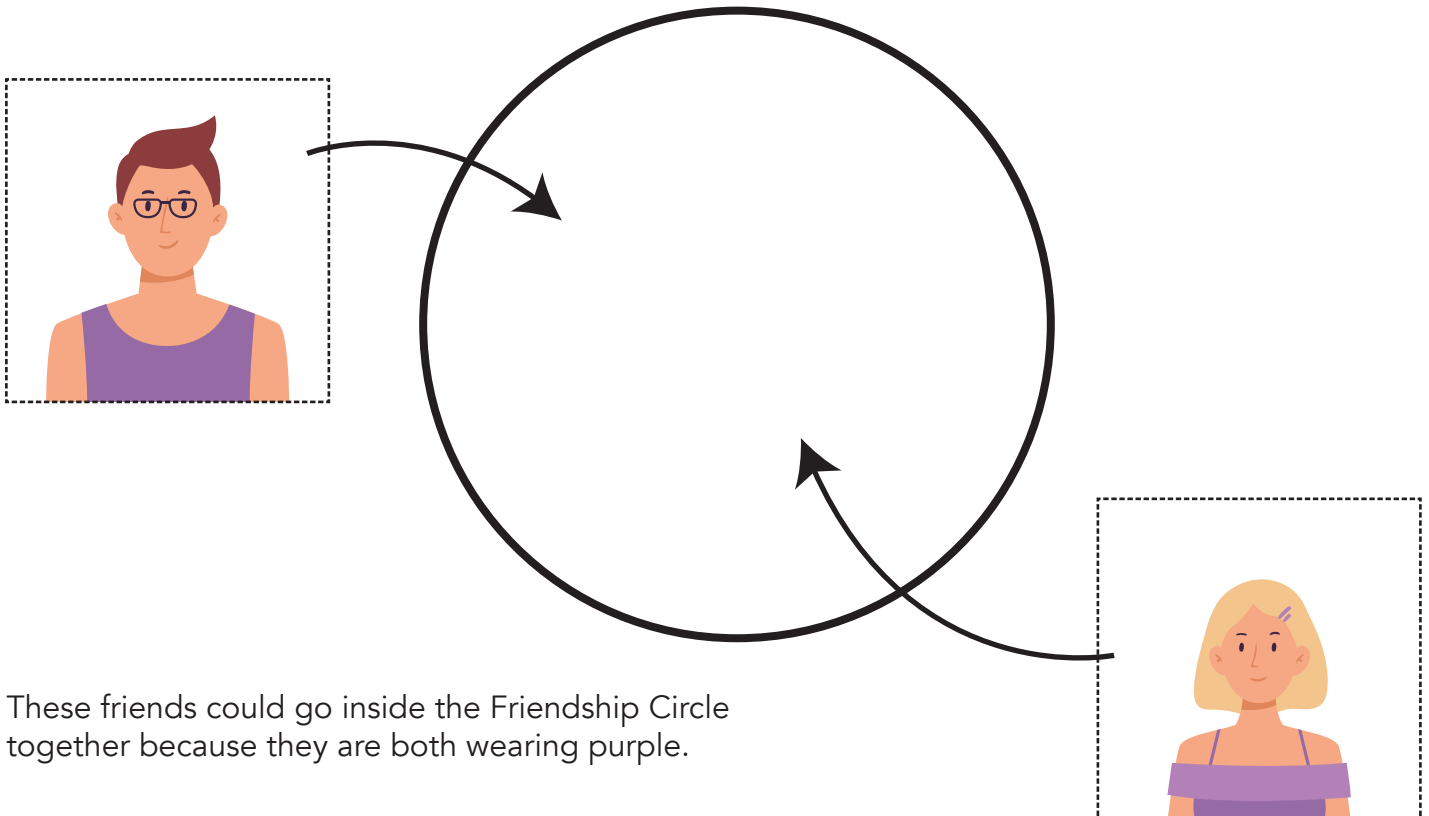

The MISSION:

Families should look to see if their children figure out that the largest group of avatars to go into the friendship circle below. Finding as many different combinations of similarities is always the biggest and best, and most inclusive WIN for everyone
Hint: You could have them all inside the friendship circle because they ALL represent human beings :-)

MODULE TAKEAWAYS:

- Observing, sorting, and grouping things is something we naturally and subjectively do.
- Discriminating and judging people and things are “bad” or “less than” strictly because they are different is not the right mindset (and could be very hurtful.)
- It is a better, more positive mindset to look for commonalities in people; to include rather than divide. In the big and best picture, we all belong because we are all human.
